... that I could be repeating what I have said before, I must say I have just concluded one of the shortest but most rewarding education courses it has been my privilege to experience in my 49 years.

The 63rd Texas Legislature ground to a halt at mid-night Monday and I am grateful that I had the opportunity to have been a small part of the activities, and also to be on hand Monday night in the final hectic moments.

I say Speaker of the House Price Daniel Jr. turned his back on the schools of the state and the members he appointed to the Senate-House Conference Committee on Education. He had the opportunity to break the 70-70 tie vote to give the schools $44,000,000 during the next biennium, but chose instead not to vote either way and thus kill the hard-fought compromise agreed to by the conferees on this committee.

That bill would have helped the Hondo Independent School District by better than $20,000 and Supt. Kenneth Flory said, "It certainly could have been used."

The Edgewood School District in San Antonio, which has received reams of publicity in the past year about how poor it is, lost some $400,000 because its own representatives fought the bill tooth and toenail.

Representative John Poerner of Hondo put forth yeoman efforts, along with Rep. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi and Rep. McAllister of Lubbock, to salvage at least this much for the school districts during the next two years.

But somehow the "anti's" of the House got their buggies before their mules and, after a full session of being over generous with the taxpayer's money and also his rights, cried, "How can you give away $44,000,000!"

Yet, when all is said and done, I firmly believe that Speaker Daniel must shoulder the responsibility of "doing nothing for the school kids of the state."

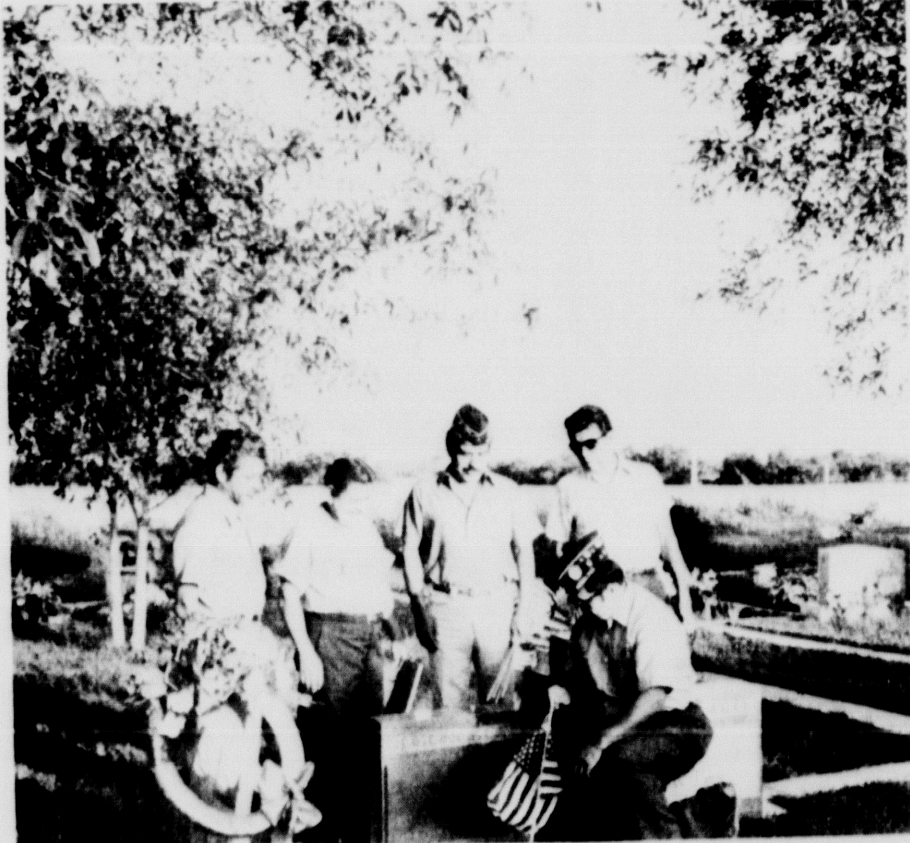

However, when you take an overall look at the Education battle, it was somewhat unfair to Daniel that the decision had to fall on his shoulders. First, the Texas State Teachers Association was so intent on locking in a program that fell far short of the needs in many respects, yet hit the taxpayers almost $1.78 billion dollars in the next six years, that its leaders refused to admit their bill was bad.

Secondly, Governor Dolph Briscoe waited much too late to even let the Legislature know he had an education bill to offer. He should have offered one at the beginning of the session.

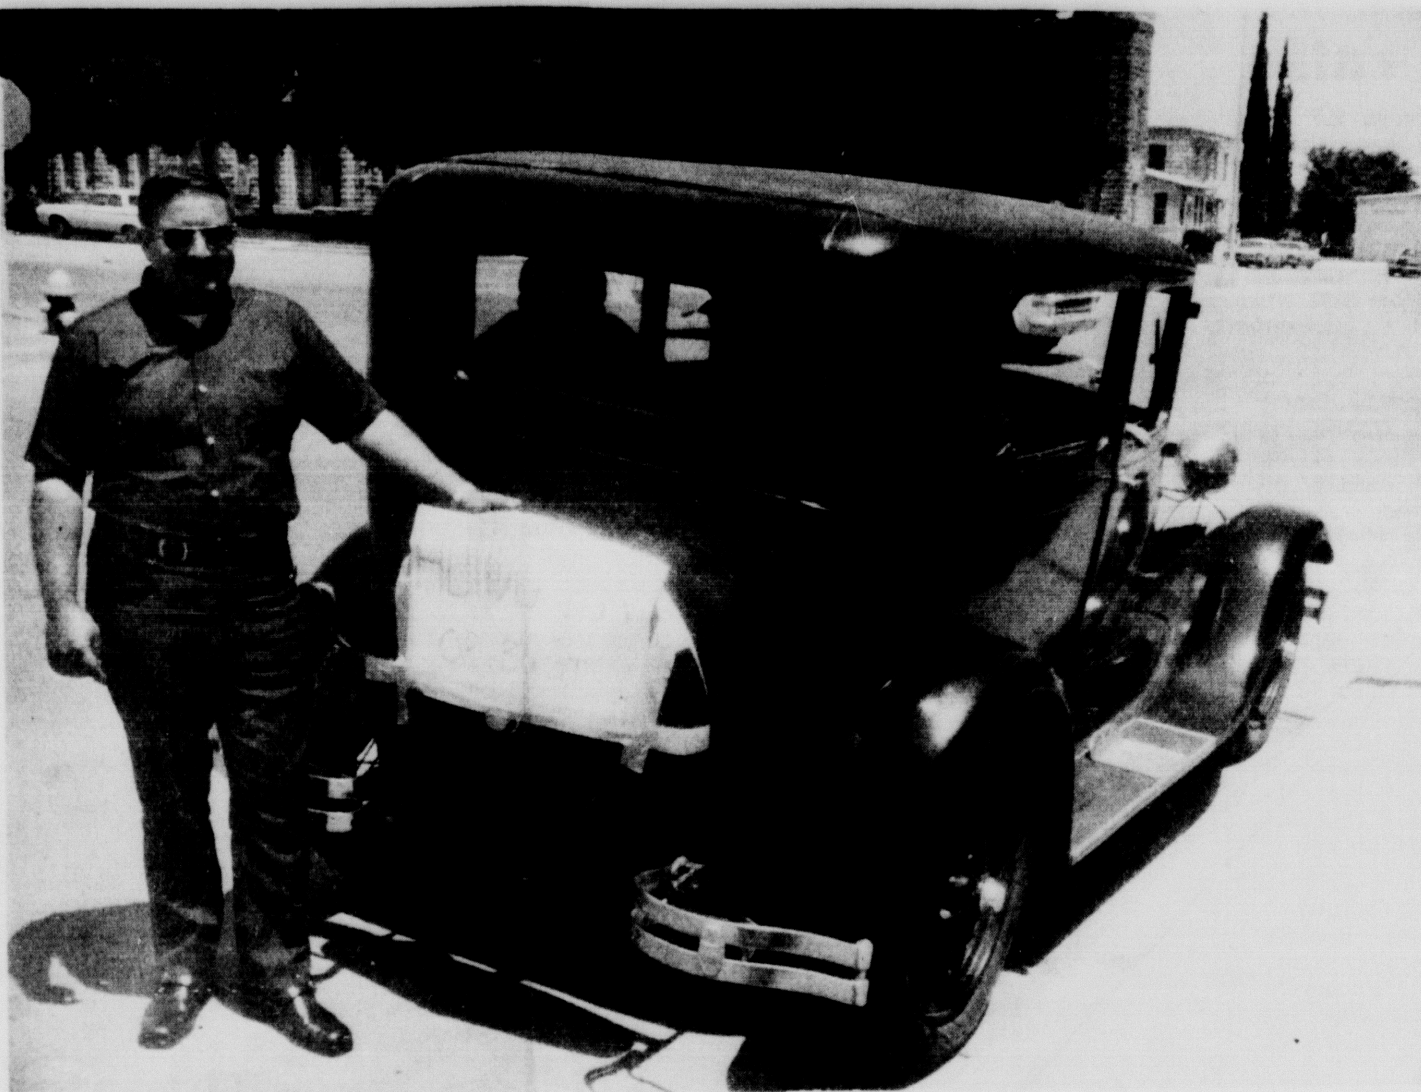

The combination of the two brought about the stalemate which Daniel let stand, thus the demise of any kind of new education program to replace the present system for the next two years.

For the honor of being a small part of the activities at the Capitol this year, I again want to thank Rep. John Poerner for showing confidence in my abilities to allow me to work in his or bust!

That's what the sign reads on the back of this 1929 Ford Model "A" owned by Major Jerry House, a new citizen of Hondo.

Major House, his wife Pati, and sons Ivan and Eric just completed three-day drive in the antique auto which began at their home in Biloxi, Mississippi.

The family will now reside in Hondo, where the Major will be involved in T-41 flight screening of Vietnamese students, beginning in July at the Airbase.

Trouble? They didn't even have a flat during the 660 miles from Biloxi. Average speed during the journey was about 45 miles per hour, which proves that we haven't come such a long way, after all.

Universal-Rundle announces expansion at Hondo plant

They're going to make some changes in the next few months out at Universal-Rundle which will bring about an expansion in buildings and personnel. This was the theme of an announcement from the home office in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

President John W. Sant, in a quarterly report to stockholders, revealed that the expansion program will increase the capacity of the Hondo vitreous china plumbing fixture plant by 50 percent through the addition of a 150,000 square foot building and a new tunnel kiln.

"The Hondo expenditure will create approximately 60 new jobs," Sant said.

Hondo's expansion is tied in with one at the New Castle, Penn. plant and the two will cost in excess of $2.5 million, with Hondo receiving a good portion of these building expenditures.

In an extension to his report to stockholders, Sant said that Universal-Rundle is expanding its facilities in spite of predictions of a general slow-down of the nation's economy and new home starts late in 1973.

"First, in 1972 Universal-Rundle was operating at capacity in some product lines, somewhat restricting our sales. This is being corrected with expansions completed in 1972 and early 1973. To provide manufacturing facilities to maintain our growth rate and to satisfy the demand for our new product lines, additional plant capacity will be needed.

"Second, we do expect new housing start activity to decline moderately by the end of 1973. 1973 and 1974 starts, although down from 1972's record 2,350,000, will still be good years for the building supply industry. 1975 should see a return to a very active new housing market. The home remodeling market is very strong right now and is expected to increase materially over the next few years. Universal, due to its sales to Sears, Roebuck and Co., enjoys an unusually high penetration into this remodeling market, dividing its business about equally between new home construction and home remodeling. We expect this strong remodeling market and our

Rodeo action to thrill fans Friday and Saturday nites

The Medina County Rodeo will come to a rip-snorting opening tomorrow night at the arena on Hondo airbase.

Among the contestants will be the best among area bull riders, calf ropers and bareback riders. There will also be some pretty eager youths involved in a rough-and-tumble calf scramble, and some not-so-eager old men in the Wild Cow Milking events.

All events promise the best in outdoor entertainment for the weekend and the support of all Hondoans is very much deserved by the people from the Medina County Rodeo Association.

Friday afternoon, the Rodeo will be kicked off with a big parade at 6:30 p.m. starting at 708 18th St., which will march downtown, around the Square, and out 14th St. to the arena in time for the opening performance.

That parade will be led by a

Chamber wins award

Hondo Chamber of Commerce again has won an Award of Merit for its observance of Texas Industrial Week.

The small town was in select company in this award since others included San Antonio, San Angelo, Texarkana, Eagle Pass and Hondo.

Larry Oefinger was in charge of the annual Texas Industrial Week observance in Hondo. He lined up an excellent display of industrial products and exhibits; sponsored a poster contest in the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades; distributed posters and placards; and helped in organizing a special edition of the Anvil Herald.

Winner in Hondo's group (10,000 or less) Taylor Chamber of Commerce took the first place honors and second place went to Kermit.

Tourism is theme of meeting

Taking a tourism theme, the Hondo Chamber of Commerce Board will hold its regular monthly meeting Monday at the New Frontier Restaurant.

Highlighting the discussion will be a report on the South Texas Chamber of Commerce Tourist Committee meeting held in Austin May 24 and attended by President Burnis Lawrence.

Also to be discussed will be the Medina County Museum and other possible tourist attractions that might be developed in the county.

Franklin Wiemers will give a report on Highway 90 and the sign which the Chamber plans to erect east of town.

Henry Nietenhofer will report on the Welcome Wagon and the upcoming Agri-business Seminar.

Directors also will begin discussions on a possible speaker for the December banquet.

Sausage supper scheduled

Every once in a while there just has to be something that people look forward to with great anticipation, and the annual Sausage Supper sponsored by the Hondo Volunteer Fire Department is one of those times.

The delicious, tasty sausage supper is scheduled for Saturday, June 9, this year in the Hondo City Park. Serving will begin at 6 p.m. and there will be plates to go.

Plates this year will cost $1.75 straight across the board and proceeds will again go toward paying for Department equipment including a portion on the new truck.

Fire destroys

D'Hanis house

Fire heavily damaged a frame house in D'Hanis Sunday afternoon.

The D'Hanis Volunteer Fire Department, later assisted by two trucks from the Hondo Volunteer Fire Department, answered a fire alarm at about 4 p.m. Sunday at the Frank Reyes home north of the railroad track in D'Hanis. Billowing smoke had been spotted by D'Hanis Fire Department member Jack Zinsmeyer as he drove on Highway 90.

On arrival at the scene, firemen saw flames leaping through windows of the kitchen at the rear of the home.

Though the fire was extinguished before it could spread throughout the remainder of the house, all rooms were heavily damaged by heat, smoke and water.

Some belongings and clothing were saved from the fire by neighbors even as firemen were fighting the flames.

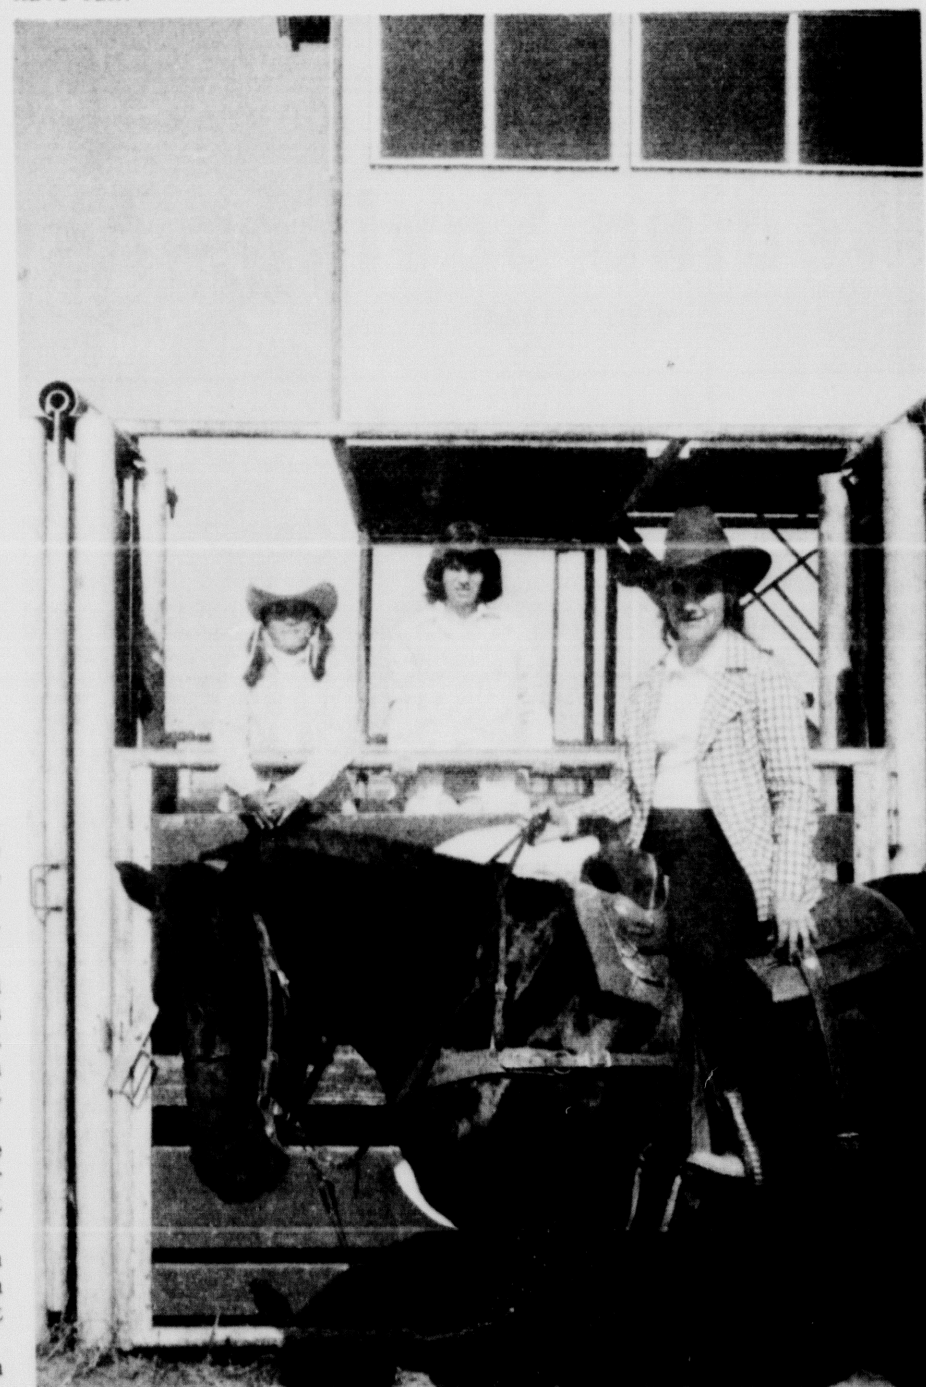

The fire, of unknown origin, appears to have started in the kitchen of the house.

Grand Jury to convene

The Grand Jury will be summoned on Monday, June 4, by Hon. Ross Doughty, District Judge of the 38th Judicial District of Texas.

Employees to get raise

BY JOHN H. POERNER
15th LEGISLATIVE DIST.

I am happy to report that before the gavel fell to end the 63rd Legislature, the House and Senate gave final approval to the Appropriation Conference Committee's version of the 1973-1974 state budget which included pay increases for all state employees.

This session the budget was under close scrutiny from legislators who were alarmed at the spiraling cost of government and aware of the people's reluctance to accept another tax increase. Yet, they recognized the fact that it was in the best interest of our state to provide pay raises for our deserving state employees.

This increase applies to all non-educational state employees. Public school teachers will continue to receive annual increases through 1979 as outlined in House Bill 240 passed in 1969.

State employee raises will be implemented over the biennium through the following increments:

For the first year, beginning September 1,

1973, pay grades 2-7 will receive a 10.2 percent raise with those employees who have over five years experience in their present grade level eligible for an additional 3.4 percent raise. Pay grades 8-21 will receive a 6.8 percent increase this year.

In the second year of the biennium, beginning September 1, 1974, all pay grades, regardless of experience, will receive 3.4 percent increases. It is fitting that state employees receive a more equitable income. In a 1971 Census report, Texas was ranked a low 43rd in the nation in wages paid to state workers. This increase should raise that standing and at the same time insure that Texas will continue to attract the quality personnel that has served the state so well in the past.

School Board Control

Local school boards have been delegated greater regulatory authority over school property by the passage of House Bill 849.

This bill enables the board of trustees of a school district to enact rules and regulations protecting the safety and welfare of students, employees and property. School boards can now establish parking areas and can assess fines for illegal parking, speeding, trespassing or malicious damaging of property.

Local control is always a vital issue and Legislators this session have consistently stressed that importance. House Bill 849 evidences this by granting school boards additional authority they have long needed.

GOING TO GIRLS STATE . . . Two Hondo girls again will be privileged to attend Girls State at the State Capitol Building in June of this year, thanks to the American Legion Auxiliary Post 128 in Hondo. ## Chamber Corner

By Lillian Porter
Executive Secretary

Have any corn shucks for sale?

Well, Alfredo Santos of Laredo called last week seeking some to buy.

Mrs. Jim Glasgow of Lubbock checked back to say they are very interested in Hondo after visiting here a couple of days. They are investigating the possibility of buying a home and have enrolled their 5-year-old son in kindergarten.

About two months ago, Stanley Galligher of Lansing, Michigan was hitchhiking through Hondo and stopped by for some assistance and a few hours of work to help him along the way. I self-addressed a card and asked him to mail it back when he found a place he wanted to stay. The card came May 22: "Dear Friends—Just a line to let you know I am fine, and hope you are the same. I am living in Boise City, Oklahoma and like it very much."

Mrs. Josie Finger, chairman of the Medina County Historical Survey Committee, met here with Glenn Dittmar, offering her help and knowledge in helping with the Medina County trail and tourist map. Glenn is working on during his off time. It was amazing to see in black and white the many, many historical places of interest we have in our county. Josie also presented the Chamber the book, "125th Parish Anniversary—1847-1973, St. Dominic's Church, Old D'Hanis, Texas."

We felt like complimenting Luxy Zigmund to her company recently and have received a very nice letter in return from the company.

MR. CARL FISCHER of Fischer's Barber Shop, has increased his Chamber dues. We thank you, Carl! We also appreciate the more than generous donation given the Chamber by the Hondo Garden Club for assistance in printing their newsletter. Thanks to all the members.

Hondo has been invited to several events in the area and it would be more than nice if we had a float to enter in these parades. Other small cities accomplish this, why can't we do the same?

And we have done something else:

Mr. Amos DeWitt of Houston signed our guest book, rodeo information 3, job applications new 1, renewal 5, job orders 8, job referrals 6, TEC call-in cards and phone calls 30, answer to call-in cards 16, out-of-town telephone numbers and addresses 3, postcards and brochures 9, rental requests 3, food commodity 1, deer lease requests 3, deer lease referrals 2, more brochures received: LBJ and Austin, Plains Trail, Forest Trail, Forts Trail, Brazos Trail, Calendar of Texas events (April through September); letters mailed to: Mrs. Pendey of Leakey, Alfredo Santos of Laredo, Mrs. Vernon G. Atkinson of Sumner, Washington (Hondo and Medina County information packet); and Mrs. Barbara White of Pearsall; other information requests 16.

office during April and May.

One thing I definitely learned during these two months. People are involved in the making of our state laws. I know the popular saying is "the only reason laws are passed is for politicians to get their pet projects foisted on the backs of the taxpayers."

Tain't a hundred percent so, my friends. There are other people interested in these laws. Thousands of people. Every day they call, write or drop by to tell their elected representatives "what they want done on such-and-such a bill."

They make contacts individually, through their lobby, through their group or association. But they do make contacts. They testify for and against legislation in committees, sometimes 2500 strong, as was the case when the Education Committee met one night on the school refinancing bill.

So I say, let's don't give the politician all the credit for the good laws. But at the same time, don't shoulder him with the blame for the bad ones. Let's share the blame with him.

I REGRET

. . . that Fred Johnson has resigned his position as manager of the City Electric System. For the City's sake that is, for I'm sure Fred has a promotion in his new job with Gary Aircraft Corporation.

Fred took over the system in mid 1970, the same time I arrived in Hondo, and it was in sad shape at the time. Since then he has spearheaded an improvement program that has upgraded our electrical system. He has changed a somewhat parochial operation into a more businesslike system.

For this we all owe Fred our gratitude.

But, since he has found a better job, I am also happy the City Council chose to promote Gene Harrison to the manager position. Gene came to Hondo with Fred and has the experience and ability to run the system.

Yet, even when I say "Congratulations, Gene," he will agree with me when I also say he has a pretty tough act to follow.

Ag boys haul hay

Hauling hay was the assignment for the Hondo High School Vo-Ag classes one day last week. Most of Tuesday was spent hauling and stacking hay at the Hondo Livestock Auction. This was one of a number of cooperative fund raising functions that assist in financing the FFA activities through the school year.

The sale of hay is the best money-making activity of the chapter.

The Hondo FFA chapter has a local budget of more than $800 each school year which is used to present the Parent and Son Banquet, pay for meals of judging teams, and for expenses of convention delegates.

Band rates II at Six Flags

The Hondo High School Band received a Second Division or Excellent Rating at the Tenth Annual Six Flags Over Texas Band Festival held on May 10-12 in Arlington.

Mark Hindsley, retired director of the University of Illinois Band, said, "A very good band, certainly. Control the balance, take care of a few other details and it could be superb. I like the Bass Drum-Cymbal balance."

James Jorgenson, band director of the University of Redlands in California said, "Enjoyable musical group. Could easily move into I category with more care in balance and better woodwind tone. Nice baritone and horn sound in March. Good rhythmic concepts and phrase concepts."

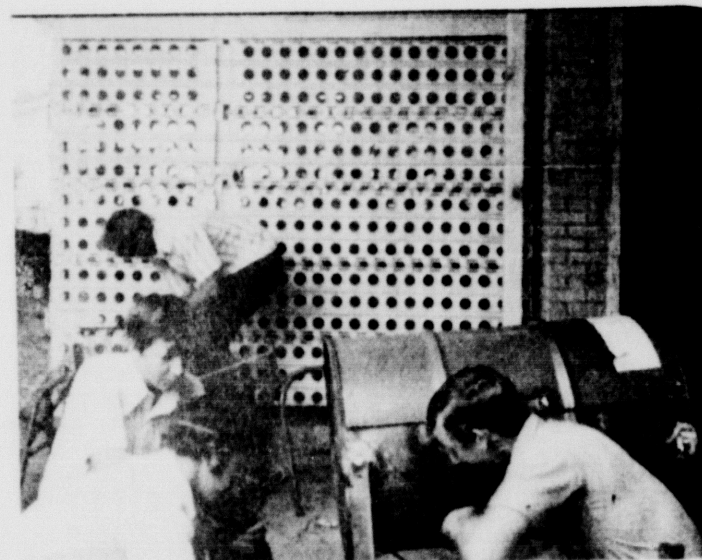

William Rhoads, band director of the University of New Mexico Band, said, "Nice tone for big band. Nice Baritone section. Band strong rhythmically."

There were also some more critical points covered by all three judges. This is the first time that the Hondo Band has competed in a contest of this type and according to Band Director Billy Harrell, "They made a very fine showing since all bands entered in this contest were already First Division winners in Region Competition." Only three Class AA bands received a First Division Rating. They were Brady, Dalhart and Westlake of Austin, the Outstanding Class AA Band.

increasing penetration of the new housing market to offset any decline in new home starts.

"Third, the current energy crisis is having a serious effect on the production of vitreous china products, which require vast amounts of heat in their production. There is a national shortage of such products, but fortunately, Universal-Rundle has plants in locations where needed energy resources are available," Sant said.

"Fourth, and most important, is the growing acceptance of fiberglass reinforced polyester bathtub and shower units. As the nation's leading supplier of these units, we anticipate greatly increased sales," he added.

The executive pointed out that his firm's largest single customer, Sears, Roebuck and Co., will shortly be offering sectional fiberglass bathtubs and shower units designed for home remodeling installations.

Universal-Rundle had earlier reported an earnings increase of 93 percent on a sales increase of 10 percent for the first quarter of 1973 as compared to the similar period of 1972. The performance set a record high in quarterly earnings and sales for the company.

Also, the directors of the company authorized a five cent a share dividend on the common stock, payable July 25, 1973 to stockholders of record June 13, 1973.

Universal-Rundle is traded over-the-counter under the NASDAQ symbol of URUN.

Vaughn-Eckert vows exchanged

Miss Jane Lynn Vaughn became the bride of William Lloyd Eckert Saturday evening, May 19, 1973 at 7:30 o'clock in the Natalia Baptist Church. Reverend Franklin Pullin, pastor, performed the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Vaughn and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Tidball of Natalia.

The altar was decorated with an arrangement of blue and white feather flowers. Mrs. Franklin Pullin played the nuptial music on the organ. She accompanied Paula McDonald of San Antonio as she sang "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length A-line gown of cotton material overlaid with lace designed with a fitted bodice, low round neckline, and long puffed sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil of net was attached to a white satin bandeau and she carried a bouquet of white mums.

Mrs. Bennie Gotthardt, Natalia, was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a blue double-knit sleeveless dress designed with an empire waistline and full skirt and a V-neckline. She carried a long stemmed white mum tinted with blue.

Bennie Gotthardt, Natalia, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man.

Miss Patricia Sullivan, a cousin of the bride, presided at the bride's book.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents.

The bride's table was laid with a white linen tablecloth overlaid with blue nylon net. The bride's cake, a white oblong confection, was decorated with blue roses and centered with two white doves each holding a wedding ring in their beak. The inscription of Congratulations was inscribed in blue.

Mrs. Vaughn served cake and Mrs. Vernon Gotthardt of San Antonio, aunt of the groom, served punch.

The bride had been making her home in Natalia for the past five years and the groom had made his home in the Natalia vicinity for the past three years.

The couple is now at home in Alice where the groom is employed by the Bar-Land and Cattle Company.

Out-of-town relatives attending the wedding and reception came from San Antonio, Alice, Seguin, Santa Rosa, and Junction.

Shrimp "addicts" [count me out!] might be pleased to know that a coastal mariculture station now has some 100,000 juvenile shrimp [flown in from Florida] under its intensive care. Destination: fries, cocktails, salads, and whatever.

Within about three months, says the project director, the crustaceans will have reached 5-inch edible size. Shrimp, says a definition, "have a depressed abdomen" which is about how mine feels upon the smell and sight of them!

Giant swallowtail butterflies are vying with the riot of color that local flower gardens present at this delightful season. Touring parties of black-yellow tiger swallowtails, often accompanied by flutterers of other species, make our lane-side day lilies a checkpoint. A beautiful picture.

In Hondo, RENEE [6] attends La Esquelita and daily shares his newly acquired bilingual knowledge with his younger brother, OSCAR, who is five. They are the sons of OSCAR [Univ-Rundle] and LUPE [A-H Print Shop] RODRIGUEZ.

Their mother told me about this recent "lesson" which she overheard. "Listen now: Camisa/shirt; zapatos/shoes; and corbata/m-m-m, I forget!" Bless be the tie that failed to bind that time!

The inequities of public education, still a controversial legislative issue, have been in the public eye for a long time. As long ago as the mid-1920's, our "Fergusonism" ex-governor was quoted thus in this newspaper from a speech made in Temple:

"So long as the Ku Klux legislature keeps giving only $12 per capita for the education of rural school children and appropriates $55 for the higher education of highbrows, I am not only going to raise a row, I am going to raise plain hell!"

But, as one east Texas farmer was said to have complained in one of those crop-failure years, "Looks like a feller can't even raise hell anymore!"

On a more optimistic note, our Texas legislators are making progress and the rural vs "highbrow" match might tie the score yet.

Notice to Hondo students: If you happen to be moving to Missouri to continue your education, Be Prepared. A state law, passed in 1919, requires that all students write a theme each year on "Bird Day" which falls on March 31.

As of this year, think of how many words must have been written about birds. Missourians, who traditionally have to "be shown" must also be known as "wordy birds".

With tongue-in-cheek apologies to Weight Watchers, I mis-quote this revised version on lines from Elizabeth B's Sonnets: "How do I love thee, Calories? Let me count the weights. . ."

And may any surplus pounds go weigh a-weigh!

I thought I had an item to add to my "Small World" series but it is reported here "incomplete": HOWARD F. MURRAY now comptroller for Del Mar CC, was Finance Officer at the Hondo Air Base in Dripping Springs in WWII days.

I tried to find Hondoans who might have remembered him [for he still remembers "God's Country" kindly] but all the youngfolks of that era seem to have forgotten those not-so dear days beyond recall. So, if any readers do remember Mr. Murray, He is alive and doing well and, hopefully, is enjoying this Sparkling-city-by-the-sea as much as this transplant to the area is.

When Tampa, Florida, first graders were asked to "explain Watergate", one budding young genius answered "I think it was a cat."

Maybe his reply was influenced by the "Vibes" which seem to explain most anything today.

This, also, is a semi-subtle way to sneak in another of my "Half-century Notes". In the days when the AH published rhymes ["poetry"] gratis, this little gem appeared in one of the 50-years-ago [1923] issues:

"Mary had a Thomas cat/It warbled like Caruso/A neighbor swung a baseball bat/ And now it doesn't do so."

Maybe a swing of a hefty legal-angle base ball bat might solve the Watergate who-did-it?

New Words Reflect Changes in Society

Hundreds of new words have come into the English language in recent years, words that reflect the great changes taking place in our society, particularly among young people, minorities and in the variety of subcultures that have sprung up all over the country.

This serves to complicate the existence of the renowned word arbiters, the editors at Merriam-Webster in Springfield, Mass. who annually analyze and select new words for dictionary entry. And acceptance of these new words in our language is indicated by the fact that they are listed in Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary which has just been published by G. & C. Merriam Co.

Among words included in the new dictionary are: "bummer" which comes from the world of drugs and means an unpleasant experience; "chopper," a customized motorcycle; and "juvenocracy," a state ruled or influenced by youth.

Bygone Days in Pictures

. . . and TODAY

Turn of the century photo at top shows double gin and grist mill built by E. W. Lacy, George and John Muennink, and J. W. Crow. Situated directly north of the location of the present day Eastern Seed elevator shown in photo below. This was one of three gin businesses which were in operation in Hondo during the period when cotton was a major local crop. Later, when cotton raising was replaced by other forms of agricultural activity, the old buildings were abandoned.

They were later gutted by fire, and subsequently torn down.

Things have changed again!

THINGS HAVE CHANGED AGAIN . . . Toby Taylor brought this clipping from a mid-1950's Anvil Herald showing the old gin on 18th St. and the then-"modern" picture after it was torn down. Today, the space marked by an X is part of the Hondo Implement Company. Of perhaps more interest yet is the backside of the clipping, which is a grocery advertisement with Sirloin Steak for 79c a pound, and home-grown tomatoes at 2 lbs. for 35c.

QUESTION: I've been getting monthly disability payments for nearly ten months and I know I won't be eligible for Medicare when it starts in July. Can you tell me why it's necessary to have been getting monthly disability payments for 24 consecutive months before you can get Medicare coverage?

ANSWER: Congress decided on the 24-month requirement for several reasons: it assures Medicare coverage for people with severe and long-lasting disability. It helps avoid overlapping of Medicare and private insurance when workers' private group insurance continues after they are disabled. And it helps keep the cost of extending Medicare to disabled people within reasonable limits.

QUESTION: I'm 55 and I've been getting monthly social security checks as a disabled widow for the last three years. Will I be able to get Medicare coverage when Medicare for the disabled begins in July?

ANSWER: Yes. Disabled workers, disabled widows, disabled dependent widowers, disabled mothers over 50 with children in their care, and people who receive social security benefits because of disability before age 22 are eligible for Medicare coverage in July if they have been getting social security payments for two years or more. Only disabled mothers over 50 will need to file an application.

Young Farmers in joint meet

A Tri-Area Young Farmer Field Day Saturday, June 2nd, at Thrall, Texas will be attended by several members of the Hondo Young Farmer Chapter, according to chapter President Wilbur Lindeburg.

The Field Day will begin early Saturday morning with registration at Thrall School. From 8:30 to 9:30 there will be a tour of the Johnson Manufacturing Company at Thrall. From 9:30 till noon the Young Farmers will see results of demonstrations on the Stiles Foundation Research Farm operated by Texas A&M University. A noon barbecue will be held at the Pettus Ranch.

Afternoon activities include a tour of the Pettus Ranch and the Fred Richter farm.

This Field Day is jointly sponsored by Areas II, VII and VIII Associations of Young Farmers. All persons interested in attending may contact J. D. Schmidt, Hondo Young Farmer Advisor, or Glenn Dittmar, Area VII Vice-President from Hondo.

THE TENSION IS ON . . . out at the slab for the new building at the Medina County Rodeo arena, and it went on in a new way for Hondo. Contractor Bill Timberlake tension was placed on the cables after several days after the concrete was poured by a hydraulic jack powered by an electric pump. He also said that they only used re-inforcing steel bars in the bottom of the beam of the building, not on the dance slab. This was done to absorb a live load, which is a load that is not constant at any one time or place. With Timberlake here are Bob Ward and Clay Heyen. The dance slab should be ready for the big dances slated after the rodeos on Friday and Saturday nights of this week. [Photo by Ted Mendoza]

Medina County oil fields are helping in fuel demands

Dallas - In the face of unprecedented demand, Texas oil fields last year produced almost 1.3-billion barrels of crude oil, an all-time record for the state. This figure was tops among the nation's oil-producing states and represented some 38-percent of total U.S. production, according to statistics compiled by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas

Association. These figures show an increase of more than 67.8-million barrels over production in 1971. They reflect that during the last nine months of the year, the Texas Railroad Commission maintained a maximum efficient production rate for Texas fields. This marked the first time Texas wells had produced all-out since 1948. Last year's crude oil production, recorded in 203 of the state's 254 counties, was valued at some $4.5 billion.

In 83 years of recorded production, Texas has produced nearly 37-billion barrels of oil, about 36-percent of total U. S. production.

Medina County, which has had recorded production since 1901, last year produced 163,919 barrels of oil at the rate of 448 barrels a day. Production in 1972 boosted Medina County's production total through the end of the year to 4,875,631 barrels.

[Editor Note: Total production since oil was discovered in Texas has been 36,603,022,439 [That's billions] barrels.]

Cautions on urea use

Topdressing pastures with urea is on the increase since it is the least expensive solid nitrogen compound available. How can this source of nitrogen be used most effectively?

Urea differs chemically from other nitrogen fertilizers, explains County Extension Agent Glenn Bragg. It must be changed to ammonium so plants can use it. This occurs when urea is exposed to a small amount of water. The urea then changes to ammonium carbonate which is an unstable, volatile compound (changes quickly to vapor). This ammonia gas will escape into the air when urea is left on the soil surface or on plant material.

Research has shown that a high pH, high temperature and moist conditions followed by drying favor rapid hydrolysis (chemical reaction to form a weak acid) and volatilization of urea.

For best results apply urea under the following conditions, suggests Bragg:

1. Apply just prior to irrigation or rain so that the urea will be carried into the soil.

2. Apply when humidity is low. Don't wait for a rain since moist conditions at application followed by drying causes rapid volatilization.

3. Apply solutions containing urea in such a way that they are in contact with the soil and not grass or stubble.

When urea is placed in the soil at least two inches, there are no losses, points out Bragg. However, this is generally not practical for grass sods. The greatest losses have been measured when solutions containing urea have been sprayed on either live or dead vegetation during periods when the temperature is high.

When urea is applied under conditions that contribute to high volatilization losses, the County Agent suggests increasing the rate of nitrogen from 10 to 20 percent.

Lawn fertilizers can mislead

By Glenn Bragg
Medina Co. Ext. Agent

When buying lawn fertilizer, beware of elaborate wording, labeling and packaging. Instead, check for the actual nutrient content of the fertilizer, advises County Extension Agent Glenn Bragg.

Fancy packaging and elaborate wording can lead the homeowner to spend too much for a lawn fertilizer.

The sequence of three figures on the label indicates the percent content of the three primary fertilizer ingredients-nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium-in that order. Thus, a 12-12-12 fertilizer contains 12 percent nitrogen, 12 percent phosphate and 12 percent potassium. It is important to use a complete fertilizer at least once a year, usually in the early spring. After that, a nitrogen fertilizer such as ammonium nitrate, ammonium sulfate or urea will give good results.

When buying a nitrogen fertilizer, determine the cost per pound of nitrogen. A 50-pound bag of fertilizer that has 20 percent nitrogen contains 10 pounds of actual nitrogen (50 X .20). Divide this figure (10) into the total cost of the 50 pounds of fertilizer to obtain the cost per pound of nitrogen.

Lawn grasses need nitrogen at about six-week intervals during the growing season. Usually applying enough fertilizer to supply 2 pounds of actual nitrogen per 1000 square feet per application will give good results. This would be 6 pounds of ammonium nitrate, 10 pounds of ammonium sulfate or 5 pounds of urea. If urea is used, it should be watered immediately after fertilization, cautions Bragg.

The agent notes that a major cause for poor lawns is inadequate nitrogen-either too little per application or a lack of repeating applications during the growing season.

Luckenbach slates World's Fair

Luckenbach, Texas

Chamber of Commerce
interim president, Oliver
Ottmers, announced June 30 and July 1st as the dates for the 1st Luckenbach World Fair and Art Exposition.

The Luckenbach World
Fair was originally conceived as a small Arts and Crafts fair where the citizens and friends of Luckenbach could show
what they had been doing all winter. The only problem is that we didn't realize how many talented friends one town could have. The Fair will be a costumed affair with both participants and visitors invited to dress in a costume from 1800's.

Nationally recognized artists such as Wildlife
painters Charles Becken-dorf and Jim Franklin will offer their works for sale.
Batik artists Gunter Mende, from Kingsville and Owen and Judy Capple-man from Austin will join with nearly 100 other artists, blacksmiths and molasses makers, whittlers and domino champions,
Indian dancers and charros, jewelers and soap-makers in what promises to be one of the most unique experiences in the known world. The fair will feature a country street
dance on Saturday night followed by Old Time

Gospel Singing on Sunday morning. The tiny village of Luckenbach, located 8 miles SE of Fredericksburg, was established in 1849 as an Indian trading post and has been in continuous operation since that time. In 1850 it became a US postoffice; in 1865 added a molasses press; in 1876 a blacksmith shop and saloon; in 1879 a cotton gin; and in 1880 a dance hall, all of which have remained pretety much unchanged since they were built.

Luckenbach's one claim to near fame is that the first airplane was invented and flown by a Luckenbach resident and school teacher Jacob Brodbeck in 1865, 38 years before the Wright Bros. more widely known flight. The Luckenbachian inventor is reported to have flown higher and for a longer period of time than the Wright brothers but he crashed, broke his leg and lost his financial backing and became lost in

Welcome to rodeo Friday & Saturday

Friday night will be Rodeo night in Hondo as the Annual Medina County Rodeo begins its opening performance.

On hand for the Rodeo this year will be cowboys from surrounding counties as well as Medina County, reports Medina County Rodeo Association Secretary Peggy Heyen.

An estimated seventy team ropers, up to 50 calf ropers, and 20 bull-riders will make sure there are no dull moments during the two-night event. Winners can earn over $250 in prize money.

Stock is provided by the Vic Garza Company out of Marion, Texas.

While the Medina County Rodeo is not a true professional rodeo, it provides a good opportunity for a lot of sure-enough cowboys and cowgirls to show off their talents even though they are not professional rodeoers.

Entry books will be open today from 2 p.m. until 6 p.m. at the Hondo Chamber of Commerce.

A parade will lead through Hondo, beginning at Hondo Implement Company and ending at the Rodeo Grounds.

Nightly dancing will be provided by the Country 5.

Tickets will cost $1.50 for adults, and 75 cents for children.

Eagles, Cards at home Sunday

The Hondo Eagles and D'Hanis Cardinals will be back on their home diamonds Sunday after a weekend on the road.

The Eagles will host the Boerne White Sox, while the Kerrville Giants will play at D'Hanis.

The Medina Valley 90's will observe an open date Sunday.

Rodriguez is fourth of track-star brothers

Albert Rodriguez, distance runner from D'Hanis, was a participant in the State Track Meet held in Austin on May 5th.

A high school junior, Albert attained the state finals after upsetting Tim Nolen of Danbury at the Regional Track Meet held at Blinn Junior College on April 14th. Previously, Nolen had edged Albert out at the finish line in the 1972 Regional Track Meet.

In a pouring rain, the D'Hanis trackster ran at 4:38.3 mile and came in fourth to three fiery runners, each of whom had seen experience in the 1972 State Track Meet.

The young Rodriguez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicolas Rodriguez, is the fourth D'Hanis boy to achieve a State Meet berth. Others were Willie Rodriguez, who won first in the 880-yard run with a record time of 1:56.6 in 1964; Manuel Rodriguez, who placed third in the 880-yard run the following year; and Eddie Rodriguez, who ran the same half mile in 1:58.7 in 1972.

The traditional half mile race of the Rodriguez brothers was changed by Albert, who prefers the distance race. He is looking forward to another opportunity in state competition next year.

Wildlife and brush control

By Jerry Turrentine,
Biologist SCS

Despite their liking for cover, deer and other edge species do not prefer vast expanses of unbroken woody areas. Openings created in solid blocks of trees and brush increase the production of grasses, legumes, and other forbs for both wildlife and livestock.

It is essential to retain the right amount of woody plants—not too little, but also not too much—when improving vegetative communities.

An analysis must be made of the types of soil present, the kinds of woody plants on the area, their height and density, and the topography of the land. This must be combined with a study of natural drainage patterns to plan brush control patterns that are the most economical, productive, and beneficial for wildlife and livestock.

The best browse plants are often found along drainageways, on rocky hillsides, or on gravelly or shallow soils. Such areas should be left for wildlife food, travel lanes, and escape and bedding cover; while those parts of the pasture with fewer desirable browse plants should be cleared. If brush is short, or very tall with little cover near the ground, wide undistributed brush areas should be left.

Flat country usually needs larger brush areas than does hilly or rolling country. This is because rough topography, as well as brush, affords protection to animals.

Brush may be controlled by either mechanical or chemical means. When using either method, a pattern should be selected that is in harmony with the natural landscape, and is pleasing to the eye. In rolling or hilly country this is usually accomplished by following the drainageways, hilltops, or contours around the hillsides. In flat country, it may be a geometric pattern of strips, a checkerboard pattern, or undisturbed mottes or islands of woody plants.

Brush areas should be wide enough to offer a feeling of security to wildlife species seeking protective cover. A good indicator of sufficient width, or lack of it, is the flushing of animals from the area. Usually if a person walks, rides a horse, or drives a motor vehicle along the edge of the brush strip and deer or other species flush out of the other side, the area is too small.

As a rule of thumb, brush areas should never be less than 300 feet wide, even in very thick brush, and cleared areas should not be more than 1,000 feet wide.

In flat country where drainageways and other natural land features are limited, a mottle or brush island pattern is often the most desirable. This restores a "savannah" aspect to the countryside. As a general rule, 25 to 35 percent of the total area should be left in strips or mottes of woody plants.

Plant communities can be altered to improve wildlife and livestock forage in some pastures by thinning the stand of brush, rather than by using a strip or mottle pattern.

Undesirable tree and brush species can be removed by axe, bulldozer, or other means without disturbing desirable browse or mast-producing plants. This type of plant community manipulation is especially applicable in controlling interspersed stands of Cedar or mesquite.

Another type of brush control beneficial to wildlife is the manipulation of plant growth to bring foliage within reach of browsing animals. In many of the present plant communities, desirable browse plants such as some of the oaks, elms, and other species have become mature trees with a canopy line above the reach of browsing animals.

Some type of mechanical disturbance, such as one-way chaining or cabling, will break off the top growth of trees, stimulate root and stump sprouting, and bring new forage within reach of the animals.

This technique alone will normally increase more than tenfold, for a period of two to ten years, the amount of good browse available for deer and other browsing animals.

This type of brush manipulation should also be carried out in a pre-planned pattern, as described earlier, to retain strips or mottes of mature trees for mast production, shade and other purposes.

For more information on improving livestock and wildlife habitat contact your local Soil Conservation Service Field Office.

Fertilize coastal, advises Schrader

By Darwin Schrader, Range Conservationist SCS

The Soil Conservation Service has recently received many inquiries about fertilization of Coastal bermudagrass for maximum production of high quality forage.

Proper fertilization increases yields and improves the quality of Coastal bermudagrass forage. Protein content is increased with the addition of nitrogen. Other quality factors are improved by phosphorus and potassium.

In a recent research study, Coastal receiving no nitrogen averaged 7.9% crude protein as compared to 14.5% when 400 pounds of nitrogen per acre was applied. The quality of Coastal is also greatly affected by maturity and decreases rapidly with age. One study showed that Coastal forage declined from 12.9% crude protein at three weeks of age to 7.8% at six weeks of age.

Approximately half the annual forage supply for a beef cow should be 10 to 12 percent crude protein. The remaining half can be about 9% crude protein.

It can be readily seen that unfertilized Coastal with 8% crude protein will not meet the cow's nutritional needs.

Each ton of 12% crude protein forage contains approximately 40 pounds of nitrogen, 15 pounds of phosphorus and 40 pounds of potassium. Most of the soils in the Medina Valley Soil and Water Conservation District contain very high levels of potassium and medium to high quantities of phosphorus. But nitrogen is always needed to produce high quality Coastal forage.

Nitrogen is generally used with more efficiency when applied after each cutting or grazing period. Usually 40 pounds of actual nitrogen is needed for each ton of Coastal produced. Therefore, a four-ton annual production level would require about 160 pounds of actual nitrogen. If an early spring application and three cuttings or grazing periods are desired, the fertilizer should be divided into three applications of 55 pounds each. Without irrigation and under limited rainfall, there are some advantages of applying slightly more than one-third of the total in the spring to take advantage of early season moisture.

Under dryland production, the nitrogen fertilizer should be applied after cutting or grazing off the forage rather than waiting for the next rain. The nitrogen will be carried into the soil and become effective when rain occurs. Animals should be kept off the pasture for about a week after fertilization.

Due to the complete removal of forage harvested, some have, somewhat less fertilization is needed as compared to grazing.

An abundance of high quality forage is the basis for profitable beef production. Approximately six tons of good quality forage are required annually to maintain a 1,000 pound cow and produce a calf to weaning age. Adequately fertilized, well managed Coastal bermudagrass will produce a tone of forage on five inches of water.

Fertilization is important, but without proper grazing management, including rotation grazing, the benefits of the fertilization program will be largely lost.

The Soil Conservation Service has technicians trained to give landowners and operators assistance in preparation of a grazing plan to obtain the maximum sustained production from the forage resources of their farm or ranch.

EUWD wants aquifer protection

San Antonio -- Pressing its battle against pollution of the Edwards Aquifer, the Edwards Underground Water District Thursday had sent a list of five proposals to the Texas Water Quality Board in Austin to be considered in a revision of a 1970 TWQB Order controlling pollution of the underground reservoir.

The aquifer is the source of water for Bexar, Comal, Hays, Medina and Uvalde counties.

On a motion by James Falbo, director of the district from Bexar County, the Edwards Board, in a special meeting Tuesday had authorized Col. McDonald D. Weinert, general manager of the district, to forward a letter to the TWQB containing the following proposals:

1. The Edwards Underground Water District will locate any unplugged wells within a proposed subdivision, and provide specifications for the proper plugging of these wells.
2. The District will prepare a standard form for application for septic tank permits and furnish a supplementary enforcement agencies.

3. The Board of Directors of the Edwards Underground Water District feels that wells improperly located or constructed in either the buffer or recharge zones may adversely affect the quality of water in the reservoir, particularly in the water table portion. It is realized that the TWQB does not have the authority to license well drillers or to control the drilling of wells.

The board also understands that any water well which produces water which is damaging to any other water source is under the jurisdiction of the Texas Water Rights Commission; however, the board feels that this matter is of such importance that it should be brought to the attention of the TWQB, and it requests that proper legislation be initiated to take care of the problem.

4. The district recommends that only the maps prepared by the U. S. Geological Survey for the district be used to locate the recharge and buffer zones.

5. At the public hearing in Uvalde County on March 29, the hearing officers were informed that the people of Uvalde County saw no reason to attempt to control relatively small sources of pollution while sewage disposal facilities at Garner State Park were to all intents and purposes nonexistent.

The Frio River just below Garner Park is not safe for contact recreation during some months in the summer when the greatest use is made of the park. We understand the Parks and Wildlife Department has repeatedly requested money from the Legislature in order to provide adequate waste treatment for the park; therefore, the district recommends that the TWQB demand funds to enable the Parks and Wildlife Department to correct this situation at Garner State Park.

The comments were added to a proposal to the TWQB from the Alamo Area Council of Governments that is stricter than the TWQB's draft of revisions to the 1970 regulations on waste water handling over the aquifer's recharge zone.

The Edwards directors also authorized Weinert to secure additional information on the proposed construction of a recharge dam on San Geronimo Creek on the Bexar-Medina Counties line. He will report his findings at the semi-annual meeting of the board in July.

In other action the board authorized its chairman, William H. Spice, Jr., to send a letter to the San Antonio City Water Board asking CWB why it is opposing the district's efforts to get Senate Bill 643 modified so it will allow the district--if bills are passed by the Legislature granting any agency the right to make and enforce rules for use of water from the Edwards Underground Reservoir--to be in a position to submit proposed rules to the Texas Water Rights Commission if that commission should ever designate the reservoir as a critical area.

State the district's proposed amendment had been opposed in the statehouse by a representative of the San Antonio CWB, Weinert remarked: "The San Antonio City Water Board seems to be opposed to the Edwards District having authority to do anything. We have only asked that if such legislation is passed, the district should be in a position to draft rules for consideration by the Water Rights Commission instead of having the commission draft the rules and enforce them."

"It is time," Weinert said, "that an effort should be made to acquaint all the people throughout the district--the people of Comal, Hays, Medina and Uvalde Counties, as well as those of Bexar--with the facts, and see if they agree with the City Water Board or with the Edwards Underground Water District."

The Edwards board voted a 2 cents per $100 valuation tax levy for 1973, which is the same as it has been since the formation of the district 14 years ago.

Start 3rd GED class

Last year the Education Subcommittee of the Medina County Goals Committee determined a need for a General Education Development (GED) program for adults who dropped out of school between the ninth and twelfth grades. AACOG coordinated with San Antonio College and the Hondo ISD and began the first class on October 16, 1972.

The second class began on October 17, 1972, and the third class is now in progress and will end June 14th.

Fifty-four (54) students have participated in the program.

Each GED course is 60 hours in length and covers instruction in English, Reading and Math. Upon completion of the course students are prepared to take the GED test.

Plaza Suite comes to the Point

"Plaza Suite", one of Neil Simon's many comedy successes, will be the Point Theatre's first production of the 1973 summer season. The Point is an outdoor theatre operated by the Hill Country Arts Foundation at its site on the Guadalupe River near Ingram.

The play opens June 6 for a 2-week run. It will be presented Wednesday through Sunday with an 8:30 p.m. curtain time. Admission charges at the Point are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

"Plaza Suite" is composed of three episodes which take place in Suite 719 of Manhattan's Plaza Hotel. In the Broadway production George C. Scott played all three male leads as did Walter Matthau in the movie. In the Point's version of the play there will be three different leading men who in addition to acting in one segment, will also direct one segment.

In the first playlet Andy Ritch of Kerrville and Gail Sears of Ingram will portray a husband and wife who are at the hotel to celebrate a wedding anniversary and try to rekindle their old flames.

Jay South of Huntsville will play a movie producer in the second segment who uses his fame as a lure to entice an old girl friend to visit him in his suite. Mary Davidson of Houston has the role of the almost too willing ex-flame.

The third occupants of the suite are parents of a reluctant bride whose wedding is about to take place in the ballroom of the hotel. Richard F. Butler of Huntsville and Bette Herring of Mt. Home have the lead roles in this closing segment.

South and Butler are professors at Sam Houston State University and will be teaching graduate and undergraduate courses on location at the Point in addition to their acting and directing chores.

Reservation for the productions may be made by calling 512-367-5710.

Texas Folklife Festival gets boost for second annual event

Eleven of 26 major ethnic groups in Texas are among the first to sign up for the second annual Texas Folklife Festival to be produced by the University of Texas Institute of Texan Cultures, September 6-9 at their 13 and 1/2 acre HemisFair site in San Antonio.

Early-bird participants represent the Lebanese, Anglo, Czech, German, Italian, Japanese, Polish, Negro, Scottish, Wendish and Greek Texans.

Six area festivals—the Albany Fandangle, East Texas Gilmer Jamboree, Hallettsville State Domino Tournament, Bulverde Schuetzenfest, New Braunfels Wursthof and San Antonio Greek Festival—have signed for the Texas Party.

According to festival manager O. T. Baker, all 26 major ethnic groups and many area festivals will participate in the state-wide celebration of traditional Texan food, fun and festivities.

The first folklife festival last September drew 63,565 and was put on by 2,163 participants from 102 towns. Hondo 4-H Club members manned a corn shucking and shelling booth which proved very popular.

A colorful folder, produced by the Institute, outlines many spectator activities and spotlights the historic music, dances, foods, games, contests, costumes, arts and crafts of Texan culture.

New for 1973 is the Bulverde Schuetzenfest, a demonstration of the loading and shooting of old musket-type guns. The schuetzenfest had its origins when German Shooting Societies began in Texas in the mid-1800's to train men in shooting, hunting, and self-defense. The Bulverde Schuetzenfest continues this traditional source of relaxing and social contact.

The Bulverde Germans will also serve Kraut Berock with Milton L. Sellers, food chairman, and Dan Harris, program chairman.

Dancing and music will be major activities of the festival. Among the outstanding entertainment coming are the state-wide champion Czech Beseda Dancers, the Alabama-Coushatta and Tigua tribal dancers, the Lebanese folk dancers, and Spanish flamenco groups. Other native folk units will be added.

Music will provide the festive lilt and the grounds will echo for four days with the sounds of Scottish and Irish bagpipers, champion polka bands, strolling mariachis, German Oompah and Cajun bands, jazz, country and western groups.

The festival will provide 31 native food areas served by Czech, German, Italian, Japanese, French, Mexican, Greek, Jewish, Lebanese, Irish, Polish, Wendish and other Texas ethnic groups. The Lebanese menu alone covers seven items from Mihshi Malfoof (cabbage rolls) to Sambooski (pecan-filled pastry).

Try Buffalo Jerky prepared by Texas Indians, Japanese Teriyaki, tasty Negro Soul Food, or such regional specialties as Gilmer Yam Pies, Cajun crawfish, or hardy cowboy foods prepared by range cooks and served from actual range wagons of the Y-O Ranch, Mountain Home, Pitchfork Ranch, Guthrie, and Matthews Ranch, Albany.

Texans are competitive by nature and visitors can join in unusual and zany contests, such as roping, horse shoeing, arm wrestling, watermelon seed spitting, Scottish caber and sheaf tossing, cow calling, and even Cajun crawfish races.

On the grounds, adults and youngsters will take part in such nostalgic games as Indian stickball pitching dollars, horse shoes, Belgian bowling, Bien Card Bidding, or enter a domino tournament.

The festival spotlights "How-to-do-it" crafts with artisans' and craftsmen selected to spend full time demonstrating such techniques as batik and sticheries, macrame, Pisaniki, Wycinanki, Origami, saddle and leathercraft, blacksmithing, wood whittling, pottery and ceramics. Viewers may buy the products they see being created by these Texas artists and craftsmen.

Baker said the festival will bring back a spectrum of pioneer life with corn shucking, candy pulling, log rolling, rail splitting, log house raising, quilting bees and many other "remember when" experiences.

An unusual Frontier Toyland will center attention on the display and construction of Toys of Yesterday. Youngsters can build their own corn cob dolls, frolic on a haystack, or slide down the grassy hills of the Institute.

The festival will be open from 5 to 11 p.m. Thursday and Friday, September 6-7; from 1 to 10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, September 8-9. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12, with special advance reservation rates available for groups of 10 or more.

The festival will provide free shuttle bus service from major downtown parking lots during the festival and arrange for school bus parking.

Broomcorn disappearing from County.

"The Broom and Broom Corn News", a publication issued weekly out of Arcola, Illinois, has a familiar voice in the lead story of its March 31 edition.

Who should be included in the Trade Review of the Week (which outlines progress of broom corn growers across the nation) but George Koch of Hondo.

Koch introduces himself as "the only broom corn planter in the Hondo area this year," with 200 acres devoted to growing the bristly straw found in most household brooms. "And that's all I have," he adds. "And that's 200 more acres than anyone else around here will have. Guess I'm the only crazy one around."

Koch cited competition from low-cost corn from Mexico, which has lured many buyers south of the border for their quota of the crop, as a major cause in the drop of Medina County producers. "They (the Mexican producers) will wait until growers in the United States decide they want nothing to do with broom corn and then they'll hike their prices," Koch predicted.

"I look for the price of Mexican corn to be up this year, even if devaluation of the dollar doesn't affect the peso exchange rate," he commented. Koch added that harvesting should be no problem this year, due to the lack of competition among growers for labor.

Those two factors—low prices and high labor costs—have accounted for the recent drop of broom corn from a leading Medina County cash crop to a disappearing farm product.

In peak years, as many as 15,000 acres were devoted to the raising of broom corn. As recently as three years ago, five to seven thousand acres were planted to the crop, although last year's total fell to about 3,000 acres.

New screwworms

The first Medina County screwworm cases of the year were confirmed this week, according to Glenn Bragg, County Extension Agent.

On May 16, Newell E. Woolls collected a positive sample from the navel of a newborn calf. The Woolls ranch is located twelve miles northwest of Hondo.

On May 19, the Gilliam Ranch collected a positive sample from a dehorned calf. The ranch is located nine miles northwest of Hondo. These two ranches, along with surrounding areas, will be bombarded with sterile flies to help eliminate the outbreak.

Producers are reminded to check livestock closely and submit all worm samples to Mission Laboratories for positive identification.

During the past two months, Medina County has been receiving sterile flies on a grid pattern, according to the county agent.

DO ROCK WORK . . . Part of the major restoration work on St. Louis Catholic Church in Castroville, included the addition of a work sacristy. Here, Nelis Beck, on the left, a local parishioner, and Herman Schoenfeld, a well known rock-worker from New Braunfels, do some outside rock-work on the sacristy. The addition is hardly noticeable since the native limestone used on the room, was quarried in the Castroville area over a century ago, as was the rock on the main church building. The rock used on the addition was donated by parishioners Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Mechler, and is from a razed home originally built in the local area in the 1860's.

Scouts accepting woman members

San Antonio —By-laws were amended at the annual meeting of the Alamo Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, this week and, for the first time, women were installed as members of the executive board.

Never before in the 13-county council, which includes Medina County and Hondo have women served on the executive board.

Seated as the first women ever on the board were Mrs. Walter W. McAllister Jr. and Mrs. William Ochse of San Antonio. Their addition to the board is in keeping with policy of the National Council, BSA, which has now made women eligible for every post in Scouting Except Scoutmaster and Cubmaster.

All officers were re-elected at the Council annual meeting, including Agnew G. Denison as president for a second term. Frank A. Bennack Jr., publisher of San Antonio Light, was named president-elect.

Here in Hondo

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Tomerlin spent last Tuesday with Mr. Tomerlin's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Moseley, at Medina Lake on a fishing trip. They spent the weekend with their son and family, Lonnie Tomerlin of Corpus Christi. While they were there, they enjoyed fishing in the Gulf.
